

England vs Sweden

63 min WHAT A SAVE! Isaksson! Maginificent! Cross from Johnson, Terry nods it into the ground and it looks for all of the world - sorry, Europe - an equaliser, but the keeper somehow tips it over his bar. England corner.

64 min GOAL!! Sweden 2 England 2 (Walcott)

Bosh. BOSH! That's out of nowhere from Walcott, both in the context of this game and what we know about him as a player. The England corner is headed clear by Olsson and Walcott sizes up a shot from 25 yards. The entire Sweden team race towards him. He leathers it, fairly central, but it's dipping and totally deceives Isaksson and it's in the back of the net! Superb goal.

67 min: That's Theo Walcott's fourth international goal, but only the second international game he's scored in. A stat to match the excitement of the goal, I'm sure you'll agree.

68 min: Selfish play from Zlatan. Makes room for himself in the middle with a show of strength, but opts to take on Parker when he's got plenty of support around him. Parker makes the sliding challenge.

71 min: Hart gamely tries to pretend he's kept a ball in that was over the byline. He's thwarted by the first ever instance of the official behind the goal doing anything. It's a Sweden corner. Hart claims it, Olsson gets in the way of his attempted clearance and is booked for his efforts.
